The Herber Aircraft Difference

Herber is a privately-owned company that prides itself on its people. Our people love their work. When you need a part they are ready to help and we don't just fill orders. Our phones are staffed by experts who can guide you through the process with ease and professional courtesy.

Customer satisfaction is our number one priority. Quotes are usually provided within 24 hours. We provide AOG service 24/7 to ensure you receive the help you need to keep your aircraft flying– whether it is general aviation, a regional or major air carrier, or military.

All inventory and order processing is completely computerized for real-time results. The moment your order comes in it is directed to the shop as a computer-generated work order. Quotations are also integrated into the system so you can get a quote, check inventory status and place an order at the same time.
